ABOUT

¡Hola!

I'm Marianne Villalobos-Emonet, a Venezuelan architect who decided to tailor my professional background, sensitivity, vision and skills into a miniature scale. After spending two wonderful years in a Fab Lab in Barcelona, I have idealized an imaginary character, a HER: Pamela Coromoto, the muse, the bridge that connects my passion for art, fashion and design with my technical knowledge, materialized in a jewelry brand, and for 10 years now, my way to do architecture.

Each collection is an open journey, pursuing to underline the wearer's individuality, femininity and confidence by making contemporary and thoughtful jewelry, visionary in technique, style and execution.

A small brand with a big message.

Embracing sustainable design and positive social impact both as aesthetics and as a way of living, each piece that comes out from my small workshop in Belgrade has been treated as a master-piece, involving new technologies, recycled materials that come from Europe and are responsibly sourced, collaborating with local artisans and providers who share our ethos in order to make the pieces one of a kind.
